

Building Team Cohesion Across Different Functions

Kitt.

About Kitt

Kitt designs and operates workspaces for the world’s most vibrant brands. By understanding businesses at their core, Kitt simplifies the overwhelming process of finding the perfect workspace. Their specialist knowledge and complete market access allow them to source tailored spaces that meet every requirement.

The Challenge

Kitt needed to strengthen cohesion and collaboration across teams and departments. Recognising that each function plays a vital role, they aimed to unify everyone to ensure smooth transitions, effective communication, and increased productivity. Additionally, they wanted to address that employees were hesitant to give feedback, limiting development opportunities and causing communication breakdowns.

The Solution

C-me onboarded Kitt employees onto the platform and conducted an initial Foundation workshop. This provided teams with a shared language for collaboration, which has helped to de-escalate feedback and remove the perception of conflict when sharing constructive insights.

By implementing C-me, Kitt employees gained clearer communication strategies, improving how they prepare for meetings and interact with colleagues. This resulted in more productive discussions, stronger teamwork, and better alignment across functions.

Results

 30%
Increase in employee self-awareness

 30%
Increase in leadership effectiveness

 25%
Increase in effective communication across teams

Results reported by Kitt.*

Kitt.

C-me has given us the ability to not only work through our differences, but also to celebrate them. We are miles better at feedback, collaboration, and getting the best out of each other and our partners. The more we have invested, the more we get out of the tool.

Steve Coulson, Founder & CEO, Kitt

Trusted by leading organisations worldwide

